WOODROW WILSON GOES TO FINAL REST WEDNESDAY

Simple Ceremonies Will Mark Journey To Place Of Burial

Place Of Entombment Still In Doubt—Body Will Rest In Capitol For A Time

PALLBEARERS ARE CHOSEN

Admiral Grayson Was Only Endoring Friend Made At White House By Ex-Chief

Washington, D. C.—Woodrow Wilson will sleep for a time in a stone vault within the great cathedral rising on the hills that look down over Washington from the westward, and while he rests there, men who acclaim his memory will take counsel together as to the manner and place of his last repose.

The hard decision was made Monday by those who loved him best.

Word came from Dr. Grayson, a friend and spokesman for the sorrowing widow and family, that the claims of the nation to show him lavish honors must be denied. His funeral next Wednesday will be as simple as his last years of life.

WORLD PAYS TRIBUTE

While this plan was in the making, a great tide of tribute to his courage, spirit and lofty purpose rolled in from around the world. His death had loosed men's tongues to speak their admiration even as it stilled the already dimming clamor of criticism that beat about him when his hands still firmly gripped the powers of the presidency. From friend and foe in the harsh days of the past and from those who still oppose some of the tenets of his faith came generous, unsolicited tribute to the high idealism that had ruled the heart and mind of him whose death they mourned.

A great American is dead, and in death the bitterings and tragedies of misunderstanding and cross purposes have been swept away in a flood of tribute to his greatness of heart and to his service to his country in its hour of sorrow and trial.

The Rev. James H. Taylor, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church which Mr. Wilson attended during his residence in Washington, probably will deliver the funeral sermon.

A large number of friends and former associates will be designated as active and honorary pallbearers. Among them are Bernard M. Baruch, Vance McCormick, Cleveland H. Dodge, Cyrus McCormick, some of the members of Mr. Wilson's wartime cabinet, and others who were associated with him during his terms in the White House.

Passes in Sleep

Washington, D. C.—Woodrow Wilson has found in eternity a haven from the storms and sorrows of a troubled world. In the peaceful quiet of a Sunday morning death found him gently in its embrace and bore him to his Maker.

He passed from life while he slept, with those he loved best close about him. His broken body had weakened little by little until the last spark of his vitality went out. But his spirit was supported to the last by the indomitable courage of the old fighting days. In his last waking moments he told his loved ones that he knew the end had come, and was ready.

GOVERNMENT OFFERS AID

The federal government has offered to do whatever is fitting to express the nation's reverence at the passing of a great leader. President Coolidge called Sunday at the house of bereavement, expressed his regret and his readiness to be helpful, and then issued a proclamation of 80 days official mourning.

Over the White House and the government departments, on the nation's fighting ships at sea and over the outposts of American diplomacy in foreign lands the stars and stripes were brought to half-mast. Congress Monday recessed in respect for his memory and the whole machinery of the government whose guiding genius he was for eight momentous years will stand still on the day of his funeral.

The place of entombment has not been selected, but it is probable his body will be placed for a while in a Washington cemetery. There it will await the erection of a memorial to serve as his last resting place and to perpetuate fittingly in stone his memory of those great days of crisis when the whole world hung upon his words.

Monday the frail remnant of his mortality lies in the chamber where work out the program necessary.

COOLIDGE ASKS FINANCIAL AID FOR NORTHWEST

President Outlines Plan For Government Assistance For Wheat Farmers

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge in an address prepared for the opening Monday of the special conference on northwestern agriculture, outlined definite proposals for government assistance of wheat farmers.

Direct extension of federal funds, as proposed in the pending Norbeck-Burnett bill, to finance wheat growers in attempting diversification of their crops and continuance of advances through the war finance corporation to cooperative enterprises and financial institutions in the farming regions were the methods suggested.

Without cooperation between state, local and federal governments, he warned, help could not be made effective. Likewise, he added, creditors of northwestern farming communities must take concerted action for the refunding and extension of existing indebtedness to make the federal aid effective. The conference which is being attended by representatives of industry, finance and transportation as well as agriculture included many leaders, he said, who could work out the program necessary.

HALT PROBE OF OIL LEASES TO MOURN WILSON

Senate Committee Will Not Meet Until Tuesday To Ask New Resolution

WILL SUMMON FALL AGAIN

Request For Resignation Of Secretary Denby Is Postponed Also

Washington, D. C.—Congress Monday stilled the turmoil over the leasing of naval oil reserves to pay its tribute to Woodrow Wilson.

The senate oil investigating committee, whose authority to question him further under the resolution authorizing the inquiry was challenged Saturday by Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior at the time the oil leases were arranged, will not meet until Tuesday. It has decided to ask the senate for readoption of the resolution Monday but this plan necessarily was changed and leaders of the inquiry announced that the session called for Tuesday would be a brief one, adjourning to await action on its request for renewal of its authority. Afterwards, it was said, the committee intends to make another demand on Fall that he submit to examination in the light of testimony regarding his financial transactions with E. L. Doheny and Harry Sinclair.

The Robinson resolution calling upon President Coolidge to request the resignation of Secretary Denby, who signed the leases with Fall, was to have been taken up for further discussion on the senate floor Monday and this, too, went over. Formal action on the selection of former Senator Allen Fossom of Ohio to serve with Silas H. Strawn of Chicago as special counsel in the prosecution of the oil cases also will wait.

TELL FACTS OF WILSON ILLNESS TO END RUMORS

Departed Executive Several Times Was Stricken With Paralysis

Washington — The real cause of Woodrow Wilson's death was a stroke of paralysis which followed his collapse in the late summer of 1919. Like Warren G. Harding he was stricken while on a speaking trip in the west.

At that time the country thought he was far from it. He entered the White House with a well developed start toward Bright's disease which caused his physicians to predict that he never would finish his first term. But by careful devotion to his doctor's orders he fought off the malady.

He was practically blind in one eye from a retinal hemorrhage which came while he was still at Princeton university, but the country never knew it. Years before he had suffered a thrombosis—a blood clot in his arteries—but it was in one of his legs and never developed any serious trouble. The same thing in his brain later on laid him low and led to his death.

KEPT FATAL MALADY SECRET
By his own personal directions, the exact nature of his fatal illness was concealed from the world for months because he feared public knowledge of it, while he was President, might lead to a stock market panic, and possibly far reaching consequences to a world then passing through the first stages of post war reconstruction. Some of the details came out piece meal and over a long period of time. Others have not been hitherto published. It is appropriate therefore to give them now that he is dead.

The first indication of serious illness came during the night of Sept. 25, 1919, while the President's special train was between Pueblo, Colo., and Wichita, Kas., coming eastward on the return part of his speechmaking trip. The increasing strain upon his physical resources had been growing by apparent, but none of his party suspected the breaking point was so near.

When Mr. Wilson finished speaking at Pueblo that afternoon he was exhausted and covered with clammy sweat. (Continued on Page 10)

Washington, D. C.—A sensational development was brought out in the teatop dome scandal Monday when Edward Doheny, Jr., admitted that he took $100,000 to Albert B. Fall wrapped in a package. The testimony given by Edward L. Doheny, Sr., before the committee last week was to the effect that the $100,000 given to Fall as a loan was in the form of a check.

Dead Statesman Ranks With Greatest Men Of All Times, Admirers Say—Praise For Idealism And Sense Of Duty

Prominent Appleton men, of all political faiths united Monday morning in paying tribute to Woodrow Wilson whose death Sunday morning caused a pall of gloom all over the United States. Mr. Wilson's lofty idealism, his devotion to duty and his determination for what he believed to be the right called for praises from leaders of every political factor. By his admirers and even by men of opposite political beliefs, he is considered one of the greatest men of all times and of all times and is linked with Washington and Lincoln as the three greatest Americans.

Comments of Appleton men follow: Dr. Samuel Plantz, president of Lawrence college—Having known Woodrow Wilson for 20 years and having been associated with him for part of this time on the board of trustees, I am ready to state that in my opinion he was one of the greatest American scholars and statesmen of our generation. He had remarkable intellectual powers, grasping clearly and swiftly the essential points of a problem, and knowing how to present his opinions with exceptionally convincing power. He was courteous, reserved, ready to listen to others, but tenacious of his own opinions and convictions, with a high moral sense and a firm confidence in the final triumph of truth and right. His administration as president was remarkably efficient for getting important things done. His was speeches for eloquence, lofty principle, idealism and influence on other nations are among the greatest utterances of American statesmanship. He was so far ahead of the partisan politicians with whom he had to deal with that they could not understand him, but his name will be revered when all of them are forgotten.

Sixth Ward Workman Believed
Demented When He Slays
Wife With Knife

QUARRELED OVER BABY

Relatives Identify Man Ground
Under Street Car, As Slayer

A double tragedy, the like of which is unknown in Appleton was enacted Monday morning in the murder of Mrs. Anton Dorschner, 538 Brewster street and the attempted suicide of her husband.

Asleep in bed with two small children, Mrs. Dorschner, 38, was slain by having her throat slashed with a butcher knife. Her husband, 49, is at St. Elizabeth hospital suffering from a skull fracture as a result of being run over by a street car. Police assume that he attempted suicide by throwing himself in the track. Physicians hold no hope for him and say that his death is only a matter of a few hours.

One of the sad elements of the case is that a little three weeks old baby, Robert, who received its name by baptism at the Dorschner house Sunday afternoon, seems to be the innocent cause of the quarrel that is said to have provoked the deeds.

THREATENED SUICIDE
The baby was an unwelcome child, unwelcome to the father, but it is the father's supposed demented state of mind that is believed to have played a prominent part in the dual tragedy. For weeks Dorschner is said to have threatened to take his own life and repeated his threats the day before the murder.

The family that seems to be bereft of both parents consists of Arthur, 22, Vilas, 18, Alice, 15, Gilbert, 13, Orville, 11, Janet, 4, and Robert, three weeks.

A coroner's jury was summoned to the Dorschner home by Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, coroner, early Monday morning to view the body of the murdered woman. An inquest was set for 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

SEARCH FOR SLAYER
Chief George T. Egan of the Appleton police force took charge of the case when notified of the death at 7.30, and together with Detective John Duval and Officer John Kobussen, drove to the scene of the murder. A preliminary search was made for the missing husband, as well as for the instrument of death, the butcher knife, which was missing.

The officers returned for John A. Lonsdorf, district attorney, Dr. Ellsworth, and a coroner's jury. The search was then resumed in the vicinity for the missing man. The theory advanced by the police that he had killed himself and was probably lying in some outhouse in the neighborhood.

IDENTIFIED BY SON
After the officers returned, they investigated the case of an unidentified man who had been struck by a street car and was lying unconscious at the hospital. Upon the word of Dorschner's son, Arthur, and his brother-in-law, Henry Welsh, the injured man was identified as Dorschner.

According to members of the family, Dorschner and his wife were not in the habit of quarreling. But for weeks some trouble weighed heavily on the mind of the husband. Frequently he told his wife's brother, Henry Welsh, that he had a notion to end it all. He would not state what was worrying Mr. Welsh.

On Sunday Dorschner was again heard to mutter about taking his own life and mentioned drowning himself in the stream. But when police investigated the case Monday morning, it was found that the cover was undisturbed.

ATTENDED CHURCH
Dorschner had attended church Sunday morning, and in the afternoon the Rev. Theodore March, of Zion Lutheran church, was called to baptize the child. None outside the family were present, other than Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Brandt, who acted as sponsors at the baptism.

There was no "scene" or evidence of a quarrel between the father and mother during the day. Arthur, the oldest son, had been out the house at

BISHOP REJOICES WITH METHODISTS OVER NEW CHURCH

Can't Make House Of God Too
Beautiful, Prelate Says
In Sermon

Church architecture must keep pace with changing times and changing civilizations, Bishop Charles Bayard Mitchell St. Paul, declared in his sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday morning in the First Methodist church. Bishop Mitchell discussed the changing world showing the many changes that have been made in theology, civilization and manner of living in the passing centuries.

"God's house cannot be too beautiful and serviceable," the bishop said in his discussion of plans for a new Methodist church for Appleton. "In going about over the country I can always tell the date of a Methodist church by the type of architecture. No doubt this church was considered quite well. But what have we here? An auditorium, that's all. This is not adequate to meet the needs of the church of today. This church is as inadequate for our present program as was the church that preceded this one for the program of that time. We must build a church adequate for our present day needs."

REJOICES WITH APPLETON
"I have come to Appleton in the hope of a new church in Appleton. You can put off this matter no longer. You have got the vision of a larger program of worship with which to carry on your work in the community. I want to congratulate you upon your plans for a building in keeping with the splendid college buildings, and for a building that will give you an opportunity to carry on your work in this college town. You see that things cannot be done in the old way—like our fathers did. The whole church program is different—civilization is different. Life itself is different and the church of God must keep pace with civilization."

"We have great changes in customs and habits from those of our fathers time. There may not be much of an improvement but there has been a change. The day was when you knew a Methodist preacher as far as you could see him by his dress and manner—all dictated by the Conference. One bishop was kept out of a conference for four years because of the sideburns he wore. I am glad our women of today do not dress like our grandmothers. When all beauty and grace were abandoned, God loves beauty or why did he paint the petals of the rose or the plumage of the birds, or paint the glories of the sun set. Our ancestors had the notion that beauty was wrong. God wants us to be beautiful. God wants us to be happy."

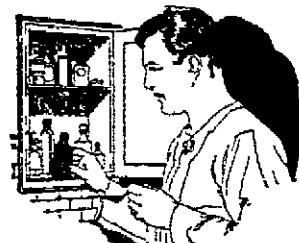

"We are seeing a great many changes in our own church these days. Some of the older people wonder if those good old days will ever come back again. I sometimes wish I could have been a preacher in the days of my grandfather. There were only two things to do—preach every day and ride around horseback. I rode

The building is located on the land which the city bought for Pierce park and the council voted recently to sell the clubhouse. Nearly horseback and boarded around on my first circuit. But times have changed. The Methodist church today is not what it used to be, and it is not going back to what it was in our grand father's day either in architecture, religious services and exercises, or in the peculiar type of its theological thinking. Theology is not religion! Theology is not Christianity! God gave us the gospel of our Lord by lip and by life. Theology is what men think of religion. Religion is what God really is to us. I certainly would not want to accept some of the theology of medieval Christians and there is not a normal mind that would accept some of those things today. My father was even called upon to get up and preach against infant damnation! The great fundamentals of Christ's gospel have not changed. God's truth abides. Great truths of religion are not shaken by what men think about them."

the entire membership was present at the meeting to devise a way to save the boatmen's home.

The Motorboat club has been in existence for more than 15 years and is made up of members from all sections of the city who enjoy recreation on the water. The club voted authoritatively its officers, in case its bid is successful, to cooperate with city officials to make the building an attractive adjunct to the park in its location in the southeast corner. The club is to level and improve the building, build a system of docks available to the public, and furnish a place where citizens may fish or dock their boats.

The club maintains that this plan will add to the recreational features of the park. It does not believe the city officials will take action that will do away with a sport enjoyed by many Appleton people.

SIXTH ANNIVERSARY OF SINKING OF TUSCANIA

Tuesday is the sixth anniversary of the sinking of the Tuscania, the only transport of American troops to France which was torpedoed en route. Several Appleton men were on the torpedoed liner. Of the 220 troops on board, 250 men were lost. Two American legion posts in the near vicinity, the Hawley post at Neenah and the Norris and Spencer post at New London were named for men who lost their lives as the result of that tragedy. Parts of the Thirty Second division were the only Wisconsin detachments included in the list.

100 PUPILS OF RURAL SCHOOLS IN 'PIG CLUBS'

Young People Showing Big Interest in Clubs To Foster Swine Breeding

The pig club program as proposed by the county agricultural committee and carried out by Robert A. Amundson, county agent, in conjunction with the superintendent of schools, supervising teachers and schools of the county, is being received with enthusiasm.

More than 100 boys and girls have already enrolled, and clubs are being organized in other districts. The plan is to have the boys and girls buy a small pig in spring, giving a note for it at the bank, and then raise it carefully for the fall market. The note is to be redeemed in the fall and the profits are retained by the individual members.

Reports have not been received from all the school districts that are meeting with success in this work, but the reports on file up Mr. Amundson's office give the enrollment of various school districts as follows: Crystal Spring, Seymour, 13; Clover Lawn, Deer Creek, 8; Elder Row, Deer Creek, 7; Sunnyside, Center, 1; Islandale, Apple Creek, Kaukauna, 9; Riverside, Bovina, 9; LaFollette, Ellington, 2; Island, Greenfield, 5; Sunny View Black Creek, Pleasant Hill, Maine, 3; Three Corners, Ellington, Bovina, and Liberty, 2; Maplehurst, Cicero, 5; Sunny View, Greenfield, 2; Pine Grove, Oneida, 3; Grand View, Ellington, 2; Cloverdale, Black Creek, 10.

Equity societies throughout the county are cooperating with the movement, and fair associations have agreed to place the pig clubs on the premium lists.

'LINGER AWHILE' GOES INTO FAVOR

Edwin Tillman's 'Lonesome And Blue' Slipping Out Of Limelight

"Linger Awhile" is the record that is now causing a furor in Appleton, along with "Dream Daddy" and "Sunshine of Mine." "Lonesome and Blue" after six weeks of undisputed claim as the best seller, has been losing popularity of late, giving way to newer selections.

This week has seen the introduction of many new songs. Among the most popular are "So This Is Love," "Little Butterfly," "Already," and "When You Love." "On Every Festal Morning," a selection from the opera "Rigoletto" sung by Galli-Curci, has had many number of sales during the past week.

The best selling records are listed below.

Victor—Lonesome and Blue, Stack O'Lee Blues, Just a Girl That Men Forget, Mama Goes Where Papa Goes, On Every Festal Morning, (Galli-Curci).

Edison—Linger Awhile, So This Is Love, When You Love, Dream Daddy, Canzonetta (DeStefano), O'Kay—Remembering, The Kingdom Within Your Eyes, Dream Daddy, Sleep Little Butterfly.

Brunswick—Wop Blues, The One I Love Belongs to Somebody Else, Sitting in a Corner, Forgetful Blues, You Darling You.

Victor—Lonesome and Blue, Linger Awhile, Sunshine of Mine, Mississippi Ripples, Waltz in A flat (Rachinani off).

Vocalion—Learn to Do The Strut, Sunshine of Mine, Linger Awhile, Already, Take Oh Take Those Lips Away.

forget that it is only a motion picture after all. "The Brute Master" in conjunction with Charlie Chaplin in "His Tramping Place" a two act Keystone comedy has all the elements that go to make a rip-roaring, thrilling entertainment—where a good time may be had by the entire family.

Black Lingerie Isn't "Accepted" In Appleton

Black Lingerie may be alright for some people, but with the exception of these few, Appleton women will have nothing of it. Of course, this does not mean the practical undergarments of black that have been worn for years, but the new "undies" made of georgette, canton crepe, crepe de chion and any fine silk. These are, of course, merely a fad, but in some cities have been taken up quickly by women who like bizarre and freakish things.

The garments in question are made just as ordinary lingerie is made, with the exception that everything on it is of black. Of course, one could add a touch of bright ribbon to brighten them up a little, but what's the use? If you're going to be some-thing through, you might as well leave off bright ribbon and content yourself with trimmings and drawings of black.

Few of the shops in Appleton carry this new fad, but a few of them have a small stock for the persons who have asked for them. One of stores reported that it had sold any amount of black silk to women who made lingerie for Christmas gifts, but outside of that, there was hardly any call for this color in underthings. Another shopkeeper who deals with nothing but fads and fancies said that her entire stock of lingerie, including any number of garments made of black georgette and crepe, was sold at Christmas time. But then people give things for Christmas that ordinarily they would not buy for themselves.

There is no apparent reason for this new craze and one cannot place it to economy, for the dark materials that would prove economical are not used, but rather such flimsy things as georgettes and crepes that must be washed with care. Then, too, they can only be worn with dark outer garments, making this kind of lingerie a luxury rather than a necessity.

DECIDE TUESDAY ON SAFETY CLUB

An extra day will elapse before Appleton's safe drivers club gets under way, because the community welfare committee of the chamber of commerce has postponed its meeting from Monday to Tuesday evening. The Welsh glee club concert under auspices of the Lions club comes Monday.

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber, and Ambrose Witton, acting as a special committee drafted a set of bylaws for the new club and will submit it for ratification. The plan provides an organization with four officers, includes a set of safety and wayside preservation rules, and suggests meetings on the second Monday of each month.

The community welfare committee will decide upon the kind of club and then will arrange for a meeting of motorists.

WANT BETTER HOMES WEEK OBSERVED HERE

Observance of Better Home week in Appleton May 11 to 18 is asked of the chamber of commerce by a new organization formed to promote the idea. The association is called Better Homes in America, and is incorporated in Delaware.

Hugh G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber, believes the most effective way of observing the week is to have a better homes show at the armory or some other suitable building. Builders, furniture stores, hardware stores, electrical contractors and others could arrange highly valuable displays, he believes, and the public would welcome the chance to see the latest things in home building and furnishing.

The purpose of the new national organization is to educate the public in methods of providing better homes. Herbert Hoover is its president.

WOODROW WILSON

One of the outstanding figures of American history passes with the death of Woodrow Wilson. It is not for this generation to measure his place or stature. Posterity will attend to this, and its verdict will be more nearly accurate than any that can be rendered today, by friend or hostile critic.

As with others of our greatest men, he had been the target of much venom and abuse. Practically all of the attacks to which he was subjected were the outgrowth of intense party and political feeling. Time will efface in the minds of coming generations these assaults upon his name and service. Lincoln underwent the same calumny and misunderstanding. His detractors of that period were fully as intense in their condemnation and denunciation as have been the detractors of Mr. Wilson. They were of his own party and his own associates quite as much as of the opposition, and they really believed that history would confirm their judgements of him. With what amazement would they view the love and veneration with which Mr. Lincoln is glorified today, not only in America but throughout the world!

We are among those who believe that history will repeat itself in this respect in the case of Woodrow Wilson. Mr. Wilson's claims to greatness, whatever they may be, and to the gratitude and affection of coming generations, will lie, as with those who achieve the most enduring fame, not so much in his acts as president as in his nobility of purpose, reflected in his utterances, his messages, his thoughts. These are the records which are imperishable, and which will be dissociated from the controversies and bitterness of the days in which he lived. Some of his judgments were at fault, some of his acts were debatable. He had weaknesses that were inherent in all mankind. So had Mr. Lincoln, many of whose policies and proposals were unsound or of doubtful value. Mr. Lincoln is not beloved and exalted because he, or rather his generals, won the Civil war, or because he saved the Union from dismemberment, but rather because of the tremendous humanity he exhibited toward his fellow men, the simplicity of his virtues, the magnanimity of his soul, his championship of the lowly and the unfortunate, the helpfulness to mankind of his philosophy, his Christian teachings and the purity of his life and conduct.

Mr. Wilson's place in the hearts and minds of future America will be determined by what he has bequeathed to it of inspiration and guidance. What he sought to have his country do in the shaping of its own destiny, what he sought to have it do in shaping the destiny of the world, what he sought in the promotion of peace and international good will and the self-determination of weak and small nations, will be the historian's criterion, not what he failed to do, or what he was prevented from doing. The idealism which has been the subject of so much scoffing and ridicule will then be weighed in different scales. What he thought and taught and dedicated his life to will be the final test. That it will stand the test we have no doubt, and that he will emerge as one of the high spiritual leaders of the nation in years to come we are equally certain.

Mr. Wilson's followers are legion. Their admiration and exaltation of him is in itself a significant and firm footing for those who believe that our institutions are founded in Christianity and that idealism is a more potent factor in our nationalism and our aspirations than is materialism. Woodrow Wilson dead will be a greater force for the standards he set for his country and for the world than Woodrow Wilson living. The irresistibility of that influence has been manifesting itself in the few short years since he retired to comparative isolation. His passing will accelerate it. There are many who disagreed with him as president who would like to go back to his leadership. There will be many more as the years go by, and he will be mourned and esteemed as are few Americans who have preceded him.

A PLAN WORTH TRYING

Senator Couzens of Michigan thinks that cabinet officers should confer with congress every week and give the legislative branch of government complete information on important subjects. We think he is right. A law should be enacted to require the attendance of cabinet officers at stated sessions of congress. They should be subject to questioning. There is not a member of the cabinet who could or would decline to confer with a congressional committee, or appear before either branch of congress, on business connected with his department. Of course he would not be expected to divulge matters discussed confidentially at sessions of the cabinet, nor to give out information the president desired for reasons of state to temporarily withhold. But on purely administrative acts and policies he could properly be questioned.

This would simply represent cooperation between the two departments of government. It would make the government possibly more responsive to public opinion, which at times would be a good thing and at other times not so good. However, if cabinet officers were to appear in person before congress at regular intervals and report on department business, it would result in giving the lawmakers considerable information of benefit to themselves and to the public.

Such a practice probably would have made the corrupt leasing of the naval oil reserves impossible.

FORTUNE'S STRANGE PRANK

We are afraid Mr. McAdoo may have to pull his hat out of the ring. Not that there is anything wrong in a capable attorney knocking down $50,000 a year from a fountain that flows as abundantly as Mr. Doheny's oil wells, but oil has a sickening odor just now. Everything that smacks of it produces more or less public nausea.

No one questions that Mr. McAdoo is absolutely on the square or that he has a clean record on which to aspire to the presidency. The hue and cry against him is cheap and dirty politics, but unjust as is the prejudice against him on account of his connection with Doheny, he probably will suffer by it. Politics is in a state of hysteria, and its reaction has no relation to reason or sanity. If we were Mr. McAdoo we would retire from the oil retainer, but not from the presidential race. And we must not forget the remarkable fact that Doheny is a Democrat. It is all too bad, for Mr. McAdoo was a promising candidate.

What an ironical twist of fortune that the Democrats should be the first to suffer in the presidential campaign from a monumental scandal that is the sole property of the Republicans!

There's no one so humble
That he can't, now and then,
Call some one else a "dumbbell"
Among his fellow men.
The hi-brow waxes sore on
The brow of low degree,
The moron scorns the moron
Who's stupider than he.

No homehead is so stolid,
That he can't, somewhere, find
Somebody's head more solid,
Some bird more dull of mind,
In country and in city,
We all are looking for
Somebody we can pity
As our inferior.

The kink at whom we chortle,
"He's such an ivory dome,"
Can find some other mortal
To call "nobody home!"
There's no one so humble
That he has never met
Somebody more dumbbell
Who's even dumber yet.

PIPE ADVISABLE EVEN FOR NONSMOKERS

A dentist inquires for some remedy to eliminate or overcome the odor from two pipeless gas stoves. The odor is slight but easily detectable when in its presence for several hours.
"When I am in the office for three or four hours, particularly in the afternoon, the odor gives me a splitting headache across the forehead."
"I have as much ventilation as is necessary without being too cold in the office."
"The gas we use is a mixture of coke gas and natural gas."

"My gas stoves are the latest type of pipeless. The unburned gases are returned in a specially made chamber for that purpose."
"There are no gas leaks."
"I supposed everybody knew it, for I told all about it on at least one occasion, how insidious and undetectable and even dangerous it is to employ gas for heating without proper flue connection to carry away the products of combustion."

The odor the dentist complains of is the least objectionable part of it. That odor is perhaps attributable to sulphur dioxide produced by the combustion of the minute quantity of sulphur contained in most illuminating gas and all natural gas. Sulphur dioxide gas in quantity in the atmosphere would be an extremely irritating and poisonous pollution, but the mere traces thus formed probably have no other effect than the creation of a noticeable odor.

The headache may be produced by the accumulation of carbon dioxide gas in the room. That gas is formed in large quantity by the combustion of the carbon compounds in the gas. It is equivalent in its effect on the atmosphere, to the effect which would be produced if the dentist had let us say, 20 patients, a couple of horses and a dozen medium sized dogs in his rooms for three hours. The odor, if any, from such a gathering, would also be the least objectionable feature.

Such a headache as the dentist complains of is more likely to be caused by the presence of minute traces of carbon monoxide gas in the air. This deadly poison is quite odorless; it is present in large quantity in illuminating gas, and it may escape unburned if a burner is covered with soot which becomes incandescent or if the metal of the burner gets red hot—just as it sometimes escapes from a gas water heater which is clogged with soot or from a coal stove if the iron around the firepot becomes red hot.

But the simple pollution of the air with carbon dioxide gas (which is the same as the gas formed in our lungs and given off by breathing, a gas not in itself poisonous, but which crowding out the oxygen which we must get from the air is the probable explanation of the unpleasant effects the dentist notices). Carbon dioxide, when present in large amount, may give the air a slightly heavy, sweetish, unpleasant odor.

The dentist speaks of ventilating without being too cold in the office. I doubt whether that is possible on a cold day if the heating is a pipeless gas stove. I should think a pipe to the gas stove, and connect it to the chimney, or if necessary run it out through a hole in the window, if I had to work in that office, even through the place thereby took on the appearance of a shanty.

The headache, depression, nausea, etc., from carbon dioxide pollution of the air, are the less objectionable feature; a more serious effect is the weakening of the blood and perhaps the lowering of resistance to respiratory infection.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Story of Life

My little daughter aged 11 is beginning to ask questions concerning the origin of life. I am puzzled just what to tell her and how. —Mrs. W. G. M.
Answer—Send 5 cents to superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C., for a copy of the public health service pamphlet entitled "The Wonderful Story of Life." This is an outline of a mother's talk with her daughter regarding life and its reproduction. For older girls (over 16) I have a letter of instruction which gives the information I think girls of that age should have, and I am glad to send a copy to any such girl who accompanies her request for it with a stamped self-addressed envelope. Girls under 16 should have the approval of mother before asking me for this letter.

FAVILLE URGES
WORLD CRUSADE
TO ASSURE PEACEFormer Pastor Here Advocates
Department Of Peace In President's Cabinet

Entry upon a campaign, a crusade, a moral revival that will mass and use every fact, motive and experience, every person and group possible to bring about the outlawing of war is the gist of the plan for peace proposed by Dr. John Faville, of Lake Mills, formerly of Appleton. He outlined his plan in an address at the Peoples Forum Sunday evening.

About 500 people turned out to hear the speaker despite the storm. Many of them were his parishioners during the 22 years he was pastor of the First Congregational church here.

Dr. Faville explained that he had submitted his peace plan in the contest for the $100,000 prize offered by Dr. John Faville submitted his peace plan in the contest for Edward Bok's $100,000 prize, and although he did not win he says jokingly that he still is figuring how he can get some of the money.

"They needed my ideas and I needed the money, so I sent them my plan," he said. "They got me but I got nothing. So far as publication in the Congressional Record goes, I would just as soon trade place with the man who won, providing he gives me half of the profits."

Edward Bok. He also sent it to Senator Walsh of Montana, who was a pupil of his many years ago at Two Rivers. The senators arranged for its publication on Jan. 7 in the Congressional Record, and Dr. Faville therefore gained considerable prominence because of his ideas. He was requested by the forum committee to present the plan to the people here.

SIGNIFICANT MEETING
Gustave Keller acted as chairman of the meeting, and declared in his presentation of the speaker that it seemed significant that the people should assemble for a meeting like this on the day when Woodrow Wilson one of the greatest exponents of world peace, was called by death. Dr. W. S. Naylor offered the invocation, and duets were sung by Mrs. Winifred Quinlan and Mrs. William H. Nolan.

"We have passed the day when we believe war is the best way for us to get on together as nations," said Dr. Faville in his opening remarks. "Some still may say it is unavoidable and necessary, but they do not say they want it, glory in it and will try to perpetuate it."

"The first plank in this plan is concerning right and wrong. We have moral laws. They apply to groups as well as persons. An age long moral command has been 'Thou shalt not kill.' It never has been accepted as a command by nations. The time has come when it must be, and we as a nation must lead in making it such."

ANNIHILATE WAR
"To outlaw war means not to adjudge or lessen it, but to annihilate it; not to jop off its branches but kill the roots. The plan is not merely a protest against war nor a moral proposal to abolish it. It calls for the death of the war system as an authorized and legally sanctioned institution.

"How are we to do this? We are not to ignore or to underestimate any peace plan or any attack upon war. There is a wealth of material in them—in international codes, courts and leagues.

"Governments and rulers, politicians and diplomats, militarists and profiteers," generally have been the warmakers. The average man in the past has had but little to say. He has not been consulted much about war but the first demand of war is for him. Forty millions of them were called out in the last war. It is first up to the people to answer, shall we or shall we not outlaw war? We must enter upon a campaign, a crusade, a moral revival that will mass and use every fact, motive and experience, every person and group possible."

DEPARTMENT OF PEACE

Dr. Faville then went on to explain which groups would be enlisted in a campaign under his plan to swing the nation to a program which would make peace paramount and subjugate the war idea. He expressed himself strongly for a department of peace in the president's cabinet, promising as an illustration that if President Coolidge gave him the job he would do it with an "uncompromising equal to the end would make the war department look like 30 cents" and cost the nation only that much.

The groups he would enlist in his vast campaign against war would be the children, who in school should not be taught the glory of war but the glory of peace, the young people, among whom are the Christian Endeavor societies which several years ago adopted the slogan, "A Safer Nation by 1920" and now stand for "A Safer World by 1930." The third group was the veterans of the World war, who had experience on the battlefields of Europe and are not in love with war. These could have their comrades of all nations join them.

CAMPAIGN FOR PEACE

Farmers, who are not plowing for war and lawyers who believe in law instead of violence, came, next. He then suggested that public libraries equip their shelves with as many books on peace as on war and that newspapers carry slogans and devote their editorials to this cause. Every political party should have a peace plank in its platform and every candidate for a national or state office should make his stand on this matter known. Labor organizations also should be enlisted, he said; for they do not like to go to war to kill their fellow workers and then come back home and work to pay off the tremendous cost. Brotherhoods, which stand for being their brother's keeper, should be in this cause.

Dr. Faville also named churches and peace societies, which had done so much good in years past along this line, and then mentioned the women who could unite all over the world to oppose the brutalities which they must bear from war as their children are torn from them. Our commonwealth and the federal government would be included in his plan. "Governments have done much to inflame the prejudices and passions of the people to make them believe war is a necessity," he said. "Now they must do their share to rouse and help the people in a crusade against war itself." Even the war department should be included, "because there is nothing inconsistent in the nation's war department wanting and working to abolish war." There should be a peace department in the people's cabinet and one in each state and other nations should be induced to arrange likewise.

WAR IS CRIME

Congress and the executive department must be on the peace side of the crusade, Dr. Faville said. "It is as lawful for congress to make war as roads. Now let congress resolve to make war unlawful, brand it and punish it as a crime. And if other nations were ready to go with us this might be true," he remarked. He also made a suggestion that the president be given one term only, either four or six years, and that the energy and money used in a campaign for re-election be used for promotion of world peace.

America lead in this could influence the entire world, the speaker believed, because she has been generous in loans to debt-ridden Europe, has been lenient with her enemies, asked no reparations from war when other nations were quibbling on this question, and has more to offer in this might be true," he remarked. He also made a suggestion that the president be given one term only, either four or six years, and that the energy and money used in a campaign for re-election be used for promotion of world peace.

125 Attend Meeting Of Young People

About 125 members of young people's societies of Appleton churches attended the union service at the Emmanuel Evangelical church of this city Sunday evening, held under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor societies. There were representatives from the Evangelical, Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregational and Reformed churches at the session. This is the forty-third anniversary of Christian Endeavor societies in this country.

Miss Mary Stevens and Lawrence Dunn of First Congregational church and Ben Heald of the Memorial Presbyterian church were the speakers, basing their talks upon the challenge, "Friends of Christ," issued by Dr. Francis E. Clark of Boston, founder of the society, at the world Christian Endeavor conference at Des Moines, Ia., last summer.

Miss Gladys Matison, president of the Congregational church's organization, presided at the meeting. A musical program that included selections by the young people was a part of the program. Although the event was the celebration of the Endeavorers, other church societies were asked to send representatives.

Do Your Teeth Shine Like so many teeth you see now?

Make this free test

Here is a way to whiter teeth, which millions now employ. A way to cleaner, safer teeth. You see the results in added beauty wherever you look today. Let this test show you what it means to you.

Combat that film

Teeth are clouded by a film—that viscous film you feel. Under old ways of brushing much of it clings and stays. It soon discolors and forms dingy coats to mar the beauty of the teeth.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Film-caused troubles, under old ways, became almost universal.

Modern science has found ways to fight film. One disintegrates the film, one removes it without harmful scouring.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

College And City Greeks Hold Party

Alumnae Greeks met college Greeks on Saturday afternoon when the Pan-Hellenic union of Lawrence college entertained the members of the City Pan-Hellenic at a program and tea at Lawrence Conservatory of Music. "Suppressed Desires," one of Gaspe's satiric modern plays was presented in Peabody hall by the Misses Muriel Millar, Katherine Pratt and Jennifer Krennerick to the delight of the audience. The play is written around the supposed suppressed desires of the wife, Elizabeth, her sister Mabel and her husband, Stephen, and it is filled with laughs and subtle thrusts, at modern psycho-analysis. Miss Dorothy Murphy played a piano solo to conclude the program.

The tea was served by a committee of representatives of the college societies in the dean's studio. The tea gave the women a splendid opportunity to meet the college girls. It was an opportunity especially for those women in town whose societies do not have chapters at Lawrence.

Be Careful What You Wash Your Childs' Hair With

If you want to keep children's hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulsified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified coconut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last for months.

STUDEE Sees and Sings!!

Schafkopf will follow the business meeting.

Pythian Sisters will have their regular meeting at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in Castle hall. Routine business will be transacted.

The regular meeting of Waverly lodge of the Masonic order will take place at 7:30 Tuesday night in Masonic hall. The master mason degree is to be conferred.

Fifteen candidates will be initiated at the regular meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose Tuesday night in Moose temple. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock.

WRIGHTSTOWN FIVE HUMBLER KAUKAUNA MULFORDS, 22 TO 21

Valley League Teams Stage Rough and Tumble Battle—Play Overtime Period

Kaukauna—Mulford Athletic club was downed by the Wrightstown Royals in a rough and tumble exhibition of basketball Saturday evening in the high school auditorium before a large crowd. The final score at the end of a five minute overtime period was 22 to 21. The game ended 20 to 20 and the Wrightstown team left the floor refusing to play off the tie. After the visitors were convinced that they would have to play or forfeit the game they agreed to play only one overtime period regardless of the score.

A free throw by Chopin put Mulford in the lead but Wysocki of Wrightstown blasted hopes of victory by putting in a field goal shortly before the end of the period. The game was anything but a clean exhibition and several of the players narrowly escaped injury.

In a preliminary the high school juniors cleaned Kimberly Independents 15 to 13 in a fast and thrilling battle. The juniors came from behind in the last few minutes of play. Mienness capped the last and winning basket on a difficult shot a few seconds before time was called. Mienness starred on the floor and had five field goals to his credit.

Both teams in the main attraction were quite evenly matched and play was fast and furious for several minutes before a score was made. Mulford started first with a free throw but the score was soon tied on a free shot by a Wrightstown player. At the end of the first half the visitors led 14 to 11 and early in the second period was increased to six points.

With the game nearly over Mulford's faced almost certain defeat but three sensational shots in succession from the middle of the floor tied the count just as the final whistle blew.

BIG CROWDS ARE IMPRESSED WITH AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Thirty-five Cars And Many Accessories Are Shown By Appleton Dealers

Expectations of the exhibitors at the Auto Show in Armory G were met Saturday and Sunday when large crowds inspected the handsome displays. About $50,000 worth of automobiles are packed into the building, and spectators who attended the show were well pleased with the many fine models on display.

A good sized crowd had assembled in the armory when the show was officially opened at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Following a few musical numbers played by Gib Horst's orchestra, Major Henry Reuter gave a brief address of welcome.

He declared that he was remarkably impressed by the fine display of cars and exhibition and decidedly enjoyed the efforts of the dealers which, he said, should surely result to their own interest.

ARMORY DECORATED
Novel decorations were employed by many of the dealers in setting off their cars to the best advantage. The walls and ceiling of the armory, too, have been fittingly decorated for the occasion. Long red and white streamers hang from the ceiling.

Standing side by side, the 1924 models, glittering with enamel and nickel, presented a really attractive appearance and many a lingering glance fastened upon them. Some represented a radical change from the models of last year, while others showed only a slight difference in the body line, or an improvement in the motor.

EXHIBIT 35 CARS
Thirty-five automobiles representing about 17 different makes of manufacturers are exhibited from the following local dealers: on display, J. T. McCann company—Cadillac, Hudson and Essex, August Brandt company—Ford and Lincoln, Auto Maintenance company—Stearns-Knight, Central Motor Car company—Buick, Fox River Chevrolet company—Chevrolet, Appleton Auto company—Reo, Kline Motor Car company—Stearns, Rosemeier-Wagner—Moon, Langstadt Meyer company—Oakland, O. R. Kioshi, Inc.—Oldsmobile, South Side Garage—Dort and Rickenbacker, Tri City Nash company—Nash, Wolter Implement and Auto company—Dodge.

In addition to the automobile exhibits there are several attractive booths filled with automobile accessories. The following dealers are represented: Appleton Battery & Ignition—Willard batteries, Appleton Firestone Oldfield tires, Wolf Brothers garage, Hasselberg shock absorbers, Stanton Tire service—General tires—Mittbaunt Spring and Auto company—Gabriel enablers and springs.

Many out-of-town persons were among the visitors Saturday and Sunday. A great deal of interest in the show is being taken in nearby towns. It is reported that some of the vaudeville stunts scheduled for the show had to be canceled on account of lack of facilities for a stage, but numbers were provided by local musical talent, which made a hit. The orchestra furnished a lively brand of music in the afternoon and evening.

Souvenirs of various kinds were given away at the show. Tuesday evening several big prizes will be given away, including cash prizes and an automobile.

LONESOME AND BLUE IS LEADING MUSIC SALES

For six weeks Edwin Tillman's song, "Lonesome and Blue," has been the most popular piece of sheet music in Appleton. This week every music store in town again reported that this song was the best seller. A card received from Mr. Tillman who is in New York says that the song is going big there.

"Sunshine of Mine" is another piece that is favored by the patrons of every store, although it is quite new. "Until Tomorrow" is a new Spanish fox trot that is much in demand at one of the stores. Still another new song, "Arcady," has found approval in two of the stores.

The newest and best-selling pieces are:

Wm. H. Nolan—Lonesome and Blue Just a Girl That Men Forget, Sunshine of Mine, Sleep Waltz, Arcady.

Meyer-Seeger—Arizona Stars, So I Took the $50,000 Until Tomorrow, Sunshine of Mine, Lonesome and Blue.

Irving Zuehlke—Linger Awhile, Arcady, Sunshine of Mine, Lonesome and Blue, Every Night I Cry Myself to Sleep Over You.

Mail Carriers Don't Want To Wear Topcoats

Just as conspicuous as the policeman's coat in the summer is the absence of the mail carrier's top coat in the winter. While people commiserate the postman for having to stick to his coat even in the hottest weather, they also sympathize with the mail carrier for what appears to be insufficient clothing in zero weather. But the fact of the matter is that no mail carrier in Appleton would care to wear a top coat while he is delivering mail. His sack coat is of extra weight and serves the purpose of a mackinaw. He would consider a long coat as cumbersome. The reason for the lack of top coats in carriers' uniforms is not a postal regulation forbidding this type of clothing. A postoffice, it was pointed out in a recent postal bulletin, may adopt the topcoat. The only requisite is that all uniforms must be alike.

THREE COMPANIES FILE INCORPORATION PAPERS

Papers involving articles of incorporation of three corporations have been filed with Fred R. Zimmerman, secretary of state and recorded in the office of A. G. Koch, register of deeds.

Articles of organization of the Appleton Adjustment company have been dissolved, with Albert H. Kingmeyer, president, and Fred W. Heinemann, secretary and treasurer, as the signatories.

LETTER FROM ABRAM EINSTEIN TO JACOB BLOOM

MY DEAR JAKE

Of course you know by this time what a ten strike that little girl stole away from you has made. I was sorry I couldn't get on to New York for her opening there but we are putting in a new production for her immediately.

You have to work fast with these young women if you want to get the money out of them. The public soon gets tired of even the best of them and they have only a few years to make good.

I think perhaps that with Paula things will be a little bit different as she is very far from being a dumb bell like the most of them and she has a very great sense of gratitude toward yours truly. I am sure that she won't get off my lot the moment some other moving picture pirate offers her ten dollars more a week.

Don't think I haven't a contract with her because I say this I have, my boy, but you know how much good a contract is to anyone when someone really wants to break it. I don't think, however, that little Paula will break any. The only time she seems happy is when she is on one of the sets going through her part. So far she seems very grateful to me.

She certainly is a bear for work. Of course everybody thinks she is "Abey Einstein's sweets," but they are all mistaken, Jake. Every one of them. She treats me as though I was her daddy and between you and I, she has got them all guessing, including myself.

It is only once in a while that any body can get her away from her bungalow where she lives all alone with an old woman she took out of the old ladies' home soon after she got here. A smart trick of hers that wasn't it? Mrs Hawkins is devoted to her and although she only speaks English with a most rasping Yankee accent, and little Paula is French as French can be, you know, Paula calls her "aunt" and I'll be damned if she don't put it over.

Because she keeps so much to herself the moving picture colony seems to think she is Rutz but I've never seen anything high hatted about her, although she won't let even me be nice to her unless I spend the money on half a dozen others girls to make up a party with Mrs. Hawkins for chaperon.

Oh yes, Jake. She's got me going but she's got everybody else also in the procession. I even saw that new production manager of mine, who seems to have an adding machine inside his head, watching her closely the other day. If you haven't seen her in "Trumping His Heart," be sure and go the moment you get this letter. I'll tell the world you'll see something. ABEY.

Adventures Of The Twins

The Tale of A Cottontail
Down in Blue Land the Twins came to a field that looked as though there had been a snow storm.

"Why, it's cotton!" said Nancy in surprise. "I always thought cotton grew in blue paper boxes that you buy at the drug store."

"And I always thought it grew on Christmas trees," said Nick, laughing at his own joke.

"You two're jest lak two other folks I know about," said a new voice, and turning the Twins beheld an old colored man.

"Will you tell us about them?" asked Nick quickly.

"Sholy! Sholy!" said the old man kindly. "I'll tell you 'bout Mistah Rabbit an' Mistah Fox tradin' tails."

"Once upon a time Mistah Rabbit met Mistah Fox takin' a walk."

"What you all doin', Mistah Rabbit?" asked Mistah Fox, polite like.

"Oh, jes' takin' a walk to exercise my tail," sez Mistah Rabbit, for in those days he had a sho nuff fine long bushy tail.

"That's funny," sez Mistah Fox. "That's exactly what I wuz doin', and he set down hard, fer true as I tell you, he had no tail at all an' he didn't want Mistah Rabbit to see."

"Say," sez he, "I saw a queer thing today, Mistah Rabbit."

"What wuz that?" asks Mistah Rabbit.

lickety split to get his pie woman to tie it on 'im.

"An' ever since that day Mistah Fox has had a fine tail, he has, and Mistah Rabbit isn't got any."

"Mistah Rabbit was so mad he dance aroun' and aroun'." "All right!" he sez. "I lost my fine tail all on account o' some silly ole cotton, so cotton can supply all de rabbits' tails foh de nex' two hundred years."

"An' dat's why rabbits is called cottontails, honey. You can believe it or not. But don't ever argify 'bout nuthin' you isn't sho about Cotton doesn't grow on cottonwood trees any more 'n it does on milkweed but the blossoms looked enough like it to lose Mistah Rabbit a tail, so like it did."

JUDGE'S FINE "CHARGED"
Madison, Wis.-"Charge it, Judge!" This will soon be heard in Judge Ole A. Stolen's municipal court here following inauguration of the court's new charge account system for law violators.

The judge decided on the new system after he learned that many prisoners brought in for minor offenses did not have enough money to pay the fines. He found that many who could not pay were loosed in jail for several hours until some relative or friend came and supplied the necessary cash.

Now the prisoner may go free and scout for the money, and in some cases he may have a week to pay up.

SKATING TOURNAMENT POSTPONED TO SUNDAY FEB. 10

Warm Weather Spoiled - Ice At Jones Park; No Change In Race Program

Interest Of Skaters And Public In Contests Indicated By Telephone Calls—Schedule Disarranged

Failure of the weatherman to provide suitable ice caused the postponement of the second annual Gold Medal skating tournament, under auspices of the Appleton Post-Crescent, scheduled for yesterday afternoon, to Sunday, Feb. 10. The rink was flooded and everything was in readiness for holding the races—except the ice. The temperature dropped to about 25 degrees above zero Saturday night but did not stay there long enough to freeze a solid coating over the Jones park rink and was "decided to call off the contests."

"The same program and arrangements prepared for last Sunday will be held on Feb. 10, weather permitting. The races will be held if there is ice fit to skate upon."

MANY PHONE CALLS

Great interest was worked up in the races, judging from the hundreds of telephone queries if the races were to be held. From early morning until well after noon the telephones were kept busy with the question: "Will the races be held this afternoon?"

Definite decision to postpone the contests was not announced until Sunday morning when it was apparent that skating was impossible. About half of the rink was frozen over while the other half was covered with water.

The snow Sunday and Monday probably will make it necessary to thoroughly scrape the surface of Jones park rink before it can be frozen again. This will be done as soon as possible so that it can be frozen and the ice prepared for Sunday's races.

Postponement of races has caused some inconvenience to the Fox River Valley Hockey league. This league had arranged its schedule to give Appleton a free day on Sunday and now another rearrangement will be necessary because a large number of the Appleton hockey players are entered in the races. This inconvenience is regrettable.

PHI KAPPA TAUS SHUNT SIGMAS TO TIE FOR SECOND

Delta Sigma Taus Lead Interfraternity Cage Loop With 3 Straight Wins

| LEAGUE STANDINGS  | W | L | Pct.  |
|-------------------|---|---|-------|
| Delta Sigma Taus  | 3 | 0 | 1.000 |
| Sigma Phi Epsilon | 2 | 1 | .667  |

| Phi Kappa Taus    | 0 | 2 | .000  |
| Beta Sigma Phi    | 0 | 2 | .000  |

SATURDAY'S RESULTS

Phi Kappa Taus, 18, Sigma Phi Epsilon 9.

Delta Sigma Taus 36, Beta Sigma Phi 8.

Phi Kappa Taus Saturday surprised Interfraternity basketball circles by humbling the Sigma Phi Epsilons, 18 to 9. The Sigmas were pushed from first place into a triple tie for second, in which the Phi Kappa Taus hold a prominent share. Kappa, Kinky center for the Phi Kappa Taus, shot four long baskets which were largely responsible for his team's victory, and played a good defensive game. Banks, his running mate, did not shoot as many baskets, but played up to his partner. The Sigmas were unable to penetrate the strong Phi Kappa defense and Feldhausen, Sigma's mainstay, was able to get but one field goal.

Beta Sigma Phi threw a scare into the Delta Sigma Taus who lead the league by jumping off to a 5 to 0 lead in the first few minutes of their contest. But shortly after, the smooth-working leaders began to function normally, and led by Matland, center, left their rivals far behind. This was the third straight victory for the Delta Sigma Taus and unless they suffer a sudden slump, they appear to have the best chance to win the Sylvester-Nelson silver cup.

The race will be a close one in any event, with four teams grouped closely in the lead, each with an equal chance to win.

CHECKER GIRLS WIN GREEN BAY PIN TILT

Janesville—Falling in the last game and a series of splits and errors, the Van Engel Commission of Milwaukee had to be content with tenth place in the five man event of the state bowling tournament, tying with the McNeill Hotel of Janesville at 2,838. The Van Engels, who are star performers in the 48 arcade leagues of the Badger metropolis, opened here on the late shift with great counts of 971 and 1,015 and with 692 the necessary number to take the lead from the Textmeyer Jewelers, stumped in the concluding one of the series and closed with 852.

Second and third places on the double ended the Badger state kegelbund changed hands on Saturday when a pair of 1,200 tallies hit the bell.

Second place now sees a pair holding it who rang up 1,261 Saturday afternoon and came within eight pins of taking first from P. Gossett-F. Lanzer of Menasha. It was Frank Papp and M. Simanecuk of Cudahy who did the 648 in games of 191, 223 and 234. Simanecuk crashed 613 (209, 171, 233). The couple had thirty strikes, eighteen spares, three splits and a couple of misses between them. Simanecuk had one split that he managed to turn into a spare by some clever bowling.

W. Sauer and W. Frey of Milwaukee placed into third with 1,202. The previous second was 1,193, made on Thursday by E. Hughes and N. Bruegger of Berlin. Frey was the heavier man of the two with 625 on games of 206, 196 and 223. Sauer got 555. Singles had an off day.

The Thomas Type Co. of Milwaukee assured themselves of some of the prize money with their work on the 615 shift, when their aggregate was 2,832. This places them in eleventh place, two pins behind the Federal Rubber Co., Milwaukee.

The scores of the printers, who had games of 906, 944 and 972, was as follows:

OSHKOSH HOCKEY TEAM BEATS BLACK

Oshkosh Sunday afternoon humbled the Veenah Hockey team, 7 to 2, in the only game of the Valley puck-chasers league played this week. The teams played at Oshkosh, and despite the snow and wind, drew a crowd of more than 100 fans. The game was necessarily slow owing to the snow on the rink which hid the puck and necessitated the loss of many minutes of searching. Four 15-minute periods were played. The invaders lost two of their best men through injuries early in the game which contributed a good deal to their poor showing.

Lawrence Men Put On First Bouts To Pick All-Campus Mat Star

Seven Pairs Of Collegiate Bone Twisters Stage Preliminaries Before Large Crowd Of Enthusiastic Fans

Lawrence matmen Saturday afternoon started their all-campus tourney in the wrestling room of Alexander gymnasium, which was crowded to capacity with eager fans. Seven bouts were put on, one in each class. Lee and Zupke, in the 115-pound class, clashed in the first match. After winning the first fall in 10 minutes, Zupke was thrown in the next two. Lee took 4 minutes and 5 seconds to force his rival's shoulders to the mat in the second fall, and but 1 minute and 20 seconds in the third.

In the 125-pound match, Anderson threw Peerenbohm for two straight falls, taking 7 minutes and 25 seconds for the first and minutes and 15 seconds for the second.

Collins conquered Braman in two straight falls, taking 32 and 20 seconds respectively, and copped the honors in the 135-pound class. Clayton had a hard job winning two straight falls when he took 10 minutes to pin Johnson's back to the mat in the first fall, and 7 minutes, 40 seconds in the second.

After Nobles had thrown Leavitt in their first fall in 35 seconds, he downed him again in the second. In slightly more than a minute and thereby won the 153-pound match.

Sohal won the 175-pound contest when he threw James in two straight falls, for which he required 6 minutes and 19 seconds, and 47 seconds.

Backard had a little difficulty in throwing Peterson for two straight falls in the heavyweight class. The first took 11 minutes and the second 1 minute and 5 seconds.

Holmes and Law were referees and Stoker held the watch.

CARRY ON NEXT SATURDAY

The next series of bouts is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 9. There will be no bouts in the 115, 125, 135 and heavyweight classes. Gomers and Young, and Purvis and Lepley lock horns in the 145 pound class. Stoker vs. Kling, Key vs. Taylor and Sweet vs. Thuss are matched in the 158-pound class, while Kanis and Stelberg will put on the only bout in the 175-pound class.

The number of fans attending the opening bouts indicates a high degree of interest among the student body, and it is Coach A. C. Denney's hope that the wrestling game hereafter will occupy a prominent place among minor sports at Lawrence.

The wrestlers showed considerable ability and willingness to mix, for the most part, and spectators were offered plenty of excitement. As the tourney progresses and the better men meet, the matches will improve. The tilts are open to the public.

CANUCKS HUMBLE YANK PUCKSTERS AT OLYMPIC MEET

Brilliant Combination Play Brings Victory To Canadians at Chamonix

Chamonix, France—Canada won the blue ribbon event of the 1924 Olympic winter games by defeating the United States on Sunday, 6 to 1, in the final of the hockey series.

It was a fast and furious contest from start to finish. Ten Olympic points are thus added to Canada's total.

ROUGHNESS MARKS GAME
The American team went down with flying colors when the referee, Paul Loeq of Belgium, blew his whistle at the end and the sixteenth minute was the roughest hockey struggle ever fought out in Europe. The Americans were stumbling from fatigue.

The Canadians fully realized they had been through a real hockey match, but the indomitable courage, brilliant individual playing and uncanopy stick handling of the Americans could not prevail against the smooth, clocklike combination work of the sextet from the Dominion.

The death of former President Wilson was announced through the huge amplifiers immediately after the match. Although it had been expected by the hundreds of Americans assembled here, the news came as a shock to the thousands of spectators in general.

BARE HEADS IN TRIBUTE
Immediately all heads were bowed and there was a silence of one minute, while the American flag, second from the top of the Olympic pole, was half staffed.

ZUPKE SEES GRANGE AS GOOD AS EVER NEXT FALL
Football Coach Zupke of the University of Illinois isn't at all worried by the opinion of the so-called experts that Grange, his star halfback, will not be so effective next fall. Zupke says a year's experience should make Grange more valuable than ever.

KIMBERLY MILLMEN ARRANGE SIX-GAME CAGING SCHEDULE

Four Home Contests On Basketball Menu Of Papermakers For February

Kimberly Millmen have been more than holding their own on the basketball court since they started their season some weeks ago and have humbled some of the best quintets in this neck of the woods. The Kaukauna Millfords, Hortonville Merchants and several other strong teams have bowed to them in defeat, and the Lena Legionnaires, one of the strongest teams in the state, had a hard job beating them by an 11 to 10 score.

The Mill team is coached by Louis Loosa of Appleton, who played on the Busley Business College quintet when that team held the world's championship several years ago. Loosa plays forward on the Kimberly team, and has an aggregation of stars to work with.

The popularity and financial success of the game has caused the erection of a new clubhouse at Kimberly, with hot and cold showers, dressing rooms and a large and commodious floor. The auditorium has been crowded for every game thus far, and provisions to enlarge the seating capacity are being considered.

Six games have been scheduled for this month, four of which will be played on the home floor. The menu for February is as follows: Friday, Feb. 8, Kohler Co. of Kohler at Kimberly; Monday, Feb. 11, Kimberly-Clark of Neenah at Kimberly; Wednesday, Feb. 13, Hortonville Merchants at Hortonville; Friday, Feb. 15, Kohler Co. at Sheboygan; Thursday, Feb. 21, Fox River Paper Co. of Appleton at Kimberly; Friday, Feb. 29, Kimberly-Clark Co. of Niagara at Kimberly.

BALLIET LEADS IN ELKS BRIDGE RACE

J. M. Balliet Friday evening went into the lead with a total of 14 rubbers won in the newly organized bridge tourney of the Elks club, when he won four rubbers. C. F. Baldwin is close on his heels with 12, while D. Smith and T. H. Ryan have won 11 each.

Following are the totals up to date: J. M. Balliet, 14; C. F. Baldwin, 12; D. Smith, 11; T. H. Ryan, 11; C. S. I. nson, 10; W. J. Roemer, 10; H. V. Langlois, 10; L. E. Sugerman, E. F. Mielko, H. Pelkey, J. A. Wood, A. P. Burnham, D. Steinberg and Maffett 9 each; W. L. Conkey, J. P. Frank, C. O. Collipe, T. Long, G. E. Massart, C. F. Sweeney, C. Boyd and C. J. Garvey 8 each; C. A. Green 7 and J. Neller 6.

Chicago—While the appointment of Frank Chance as manager of the White Sox was well received, there is no denying the fact that three veteran stars on the club possess managerial ability—Eddie Collins, Ray Schalk and Harry Hooper. That is why the selection of Chance was a surprise in some quarters.

Kid Gleason frankly admits that Eddie Collins carried many of the managerial burdens for him when he was leading the Sox. Collins as captain directed the play of the club in the field. Gleason confining his activities to handling the pitching situation.

As to the pitchers, Gleason was guided to a large extent by the judgment of Schalk.

Harry Hooper admits that one of the big disappointments of his career was his failure to be selected as the successor of Bill Carrigan, when he quit the managerial post at Boston.

Collins, Schalk and Hooper are regarded as three of the brainiest players in the American league and all have managerial possibilities if they ever care to take a whirl at the job.

TELL FACTS OF WILSON ILLNESS TO END RUMORS

Departed Executive Several Times Was Stricken With Paralysis

perspiration. An examination by Dr. Grayson disclosed nothing markedly wrong and he was put to bed. Mrs. Wilson remained up with him, as he complained of restlessness.

Soon after midnight he complained of feeling ill and Dr. Grayson found him in a state of nervous exhaustion, with the right side of his face twitching as it often had done before when he was very tired and worn out.

But the physician was alarmed and shocked to note a trickling of saliva from a corner of the President's mouth and a drooping of the facial muscles on the left side. Recognizing immediately that a stroke of paralysis was impending, Dr. Grayson warned Mr. Wilson of this grave condition, suggested that he cancel the remainder of the tour and immediately return to Washington, and, in conclusion urged that he try and get some sleep.

WILLING TO DIE FOR LEAGUE

"I won't be able to sleep at all, doctor, if you say I must cancel the trip," Mr. Wilson responded. "Even if giving my own life would accomplish this object, I gladly would give it."

The physician quieted his patient as best he could and took steps to cancel the remainder of the speaking engagements and bring the President to Washington. Mr. Wilson, yielding to the entreaties of Mrs. Wilson, acquiesced and the facts were announced to the country in an official statement.

FALL ON BATHROOM FLOOR

About 4 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 5 Mrs. Wilson heard the President in a bathroom calling in a weak voice. Dr. Grayson was summoned and found Mr. Wilson prostrated on the bathroom floor. In a semi-conscious condition he had fallen with the left leg crumpled under him.

The physician rolled the prostrate form fully onto the rug and then grasping at by two corners, dragged his burden across the hall into a bed chamber. Finding himself unequal to the task of lifting the President into bed, he called Mrs. Wilson and together they succeeded.

Once in bed the President seemed to regain his senses and murmured that he felt sleepy. Dr. Grayson made a hurried examination of pulse and heart and found them very low.

SIGNS OF PARALYTIC STROKE

The telltale drooping of saliva from the President's mouth and the twitching of the face were signs again. They wrote their own diagnosis. "Woodrow Wilson had been paralyzed on his left side and lay in the shadow of death. With the first movement of his lips he extracted a promise from the doctor and his wife that his condition, if serious, must not become known.

A two hour consultation developed the agreement that Mr. Wilson had suffered what is medically known as a cerebral thrombosis—a blood clot in one of the blood vessels in the right side of his brain. Its effect was to unpair the motor nerves of the left side as well as the sensory nerves.

The physicians concluded there had been no lesion, but that there was danger of one. If the clot were a hard one and should be swept along in the blood circulation to the heart and jam a valve the result probably would be death. If it were a soft clot there was hope of absorbing it.

On that hope the battle for life began. An official bulletin informed the country of a serious turn in the President's condition, but did not disclose the cause.

For the next week Mr. Wilson hovered between life and death. Everything that it was possible to do was done. The country finding for the first time that the President was in danger of death fell into a gloom.

STILL ABLE TO JOKE A BIT
"Your temperature is exactly normal this morning," said Dr. Grayson on one occasion soon thereafter.

"My temper won't be normal if you keep me in this bed much longer," returned Mr. Wilson.

But anxious as he was to "try his legs" his physician knowing the true condition dissuaded him from risking it.

CONGRESS GETS IMPATIENT

Meanwhile, the secrecy which surrounded the details of the President's illness gave rise to some complications. Congress wanted to know whether he had suffered a constitutional disability to perform the functions of his office. Mr. Wilson and his wife were determined that congress shouldn't find out.

But the agitation in congress finally came to a head and it was determined to "find out whether we have a President or not," as one political leader expressed it. The House of Representatives furnished the occasion for passing a resolution which the senate decided warranted a conference of the foreign relations committee with the President.

Senator Fall of New Mexico, a Republican and administration policy opponent, who became secretary of the interior under President Harding, was named as a member of the special committee to go to the White House, and Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, a Democrat, a political friend and league of nations supporter, was named as the other.

Much to their surprise the senators were ushered into the sick room, where the President shook hands with his right hand, fumbled with some documents with his left and discussed the Mexican situation with marked mental agility.

That demonstration exploded the rumors that Mr. Wilson was a maniac, unconscious, a prisoner, or so disabled that he was unable to talk business. It demonstrated, however, that he was still a sick man showing a remarkable display of sand.

ENGLISH WOMAN IS GUEST AT BANQUET

More than 50 guests, including members of the American Association of University Women and their friends, were present at the banquet given for Miss Elizabeth Drew at Appleton Women's club on Saturday evening. Honor guests at the banquet included the past presidents of the college women's association and the charter members.

Miss Myrtle Hart, president of the association, acted as toastmistress at the banquet. Mrs. H. E. Peabody spoke for the past presidents and said that she had no subject on which she was going to talk but that any one who wanted to name her talk afterwards could do so. She told of the adventure that there is in learning for those who keep on learning after they have left schools. Miss Drew spoke charmingly and her topic was "Literature in Education."

The past presidents include Mrs. James Wood, Miss Louise Dudley, Mrs. H. E. Peabody, Miss Frances Foster, Miss Calla Gyles and Mrs. Stephen Rosebush. Neither Miss Dudley nor Miss Gyles could be present but a letter from each was read. The charter members who were present were Mrs. James Reeve, Miss Zella Anne Smith, Miss Myrtle Hart, Mrs. Charles Marston, Mrs. Harriet Nicholson, Miss Mary Baker, Miss Ada Hahn, Mrs. Alan Theurer, Miss Carrie Morgan, Miss Ethel Carter, Mrs. James Wood and Mrs. Nellie B. Abraham.

Mrs. Theresa Simpson visited friends at Hortonville Sunday.

DEATH BROUGHT WILSON MEANING OF 'SURRENDER'

War-time President Refused To Give Up Hope Of League To Maintain Peace

phrase. But the idea of a war to end war never left Woodrow Wilson. Long after the American people began to turn their minds to domestic concerns and the material side of reconstruction, the broodings of Mr. Wilson over the breakdown of moral force continued. He was arbitrary in his views about a formula for world peace because he was in no mood for detail or distrust of other peoples or governments. All had worked together in the common partnership of war. All had put their armies and navies under one command and had given of their food and money and resources without stint for an ideal.

The decision of 1917 meant to Woodrow Wilson a readiness on the part of America to assume obligations in the affairs of the world and to fulfill them. The recession from this viewpoint he could never understand. In his last speech to the American people over the radio on Armistice day, Nov. 1923, Mr. Wilson was bitter in his renunciation of that policy. He called it "cowardly" and ignoble. And his words were resented by many. To the sick man in seclusion in the national capitol it was but the last feeble attempt to bestir the people to realization of the change that had come over them since they pledged themselves in 1917 so willingly to cooperation with the rest of the world without reservation.

SOUGHT TO AVOID WAR

Seven years ago to a day almost—Saturday, Feb. 3, 1917—came the fateful turn in the career of Woodrow Wilson. It was on that day that the United States severed diplomatic relations with Germany and ordered Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, to go home. War followed two months later—a war that Woodrow Wilson never wanted to enter though he felt for a long time prior to 1917 that American participation would sooner or later become imperative. He hoped against hope for an allied victory without the aid of the United States. As he steered the ship of state in what he believed was a course of benevolent neutrality he prayed that the allies would end the war triumphantly and enable the United States to play a role of peace-maker and healer of the wounds of war. But when war came he threw himself into the fray with an abandon that wiped the mistaken phrase "too proud to fight" out of the vocabulary of his critics for once and all. The selective service act—compulsory military service something which under the dread term of "conscription" had shaken the democracies of the world to their foundations, was recommended by him with a suddenness that made everybody gasp. But it enabled America to put two million men into Europe and turn the tide of battle toward the ultimate victory.

FOUGHT FOR UNITY

It was Woodrow Wilson who from the first fought for unity of command on land and sea and the brushing aside of technical sovereignty in the interest of self-preservation of the allied peoples. His influence in the scales made Foch the generalissimo and enabled the fleet of the allies to be combined for effective operation under the British high command.

The hectic days of the war with their worries and burdens that his friends thought would break him down were weathered triumphantly, but he set sail for the peace conference with a heart saddened by the loss of both houses of congress after his ill-fated appeal of 1918 for a Democratic congress. He had been thinking of the partisan attack behind his back in the war days. "He was a partisan too. His appeal for a Democratic congress was based upon the belief that he would be able the better to make peace."

HOPED FOR VINDICATION

And even on top of that Woodrow Wilson hoped for vindication in 1924. He watched the maneuvers of the candidates. None but James M. Cox has been mentioning the league of nations but the removal of Woodrow Wilson from the political stage will not mean that his party will forget.

Williams Gibbs McAdoo, son-in-law of Woodrow Wilson, has publicly declared for the Bop peace plan which provides for entry of the United States into the league of nations with suitable reservations and proper safeguards on American sovereignty and independence. Mr. McAdoo may or may not be heir to the Wilson strength in the United States but he has already indicated his willingness to take up the battle for the league.

SLEET STORM BREAKS DOWN WIRE SYSTEM

Telegraph and Telephone Wires Carried Down By Weight Of The Ice

Wire service south of Appleton was demoralized, streets were closed and traffic delayed by the blizzard which swept over Appleton late Sunday afternoon and all Sunday night. It was the worst storm of the year in many parts of Wisconsin. Sleet and rain in the neighborhood of Milwaukee added to the discomfort and trouble. Wires are down in the southern part of the state and it probably will be several days before normal service is restored. Appleton was not hit hard except for loss of wire communication. Trains and street cars were not seriously interrupted.

Only meagre information concerning the extent of the damage to the telephone lines was available at the Wisconsin Telephone Co. office here because of inability to get into communication with Milwaukee. The Appleton office received instructions, however, to send all its repair crews to the storm center indicating that the damage is severe.

According to the information here, the wires are down between Port Washington, West Bend and Milwaukee. Rain fell almost all day Sunday in Milwaukee and in the evening it turned to sleet. Wires began going down early in the evening and by morning all communication with Milwaukee and the south was cut off.

The Post-Crescent was without telegraphic service for more than three hours while an effort was being made to secure a relay service from St. Paul. Part of the telegraphic news printed today was received by radio.

Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies reported wires down in the south. It is believed they also were in the neighborhood of Milwaukee. Western Union was cut off from telegraphic communication with Milwaukee for several hours.

There was little or no interruption of wire service north and east of Appleton and the damage on local lines was very slight, according to H. M. Fellows, manager of the Appleton exchange of the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

Railroad wires also were down between Fond du Lac and Milwaukee but train service was not seriously interrupted. The passenger train due here from the south at 2:45 Monday morning was about four hours late because the engine left the falls at Neenah. Another engine was brought from Fond du Lac and pulled the train into Appleton. The northbound mail train due here about 3:45 was an hour late and southbound trains are running about a half hour behind schedule.

The passenger train running between Manitowish and Kaukauna was stalled in snow drifts Monday morning and was held prisoner for several hours. Train service south of Fond du Lac is being repaired after sleet had slowed up transportation. The railroad company is seriously handicapped because its telegraph and telephone wires are down.

The street department was out with a large crew of men immediately after the storm to open up streets that had been snowed in. Nearly every street in the city will require some work, according to a report from the city hall. R. M. Connolly, city engineer, has ordered out extra crews so that the work can be finished as soon as possible, probably by Tuesday.

Country roads, which had been passable to a limited extent, are closed again and traffic outside of Appleton is next to impossible.

Men working all night with the big snow plow of the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat & Power Co. were able to keep the lines open all the way from Neenah to Kaukauna and permitted of uninterrupted service. Interurbans were kept on the line all night also in order to prevent the tracks from being drifted over.

Cars are running on schedule in city and suburban area. It was necessary to keep the plow operating until noon because of the high wind that persisted.

The Neenah-Oshkosh interurban line also was open and in operation up to noon. The tracks were plowed out during the night and cars reached Neenah Monday morning. The schedule was somewhat irregular, however.

One freak feature of the storm was that it was accompanied by thunder and lightning. This occurred about 6:15 Sunday evening and was noticed by numbers of people. The thunder was not of great volume but was distinct and followed several electrical flashes.

SLAYS WIFE WITH KNIFE, TRIES TO END HIS OWN LIFE

Anton Dorschner Cuts Wife's Throat As She Sleeps With Children

night and returned somewhat late. At 1 o'clock in the morning he heard his father and mother talking in the downstairs bedroom, but from the sound of his father's voice, he could not be construed that he was quarreling.

Dorschner occupied a bed room on the second floor, while his wife was in bed with Baby Robert and Janet, a daughter of four years.

It is believed that Dorschner went to bed after that. His wife was, at least was allowed to go to sleep. Arthur who had been accustomed to being called early in the morning, thought it strange that he was not called this morning.

CHILDREN SEE MOTHER
He arose and found his father missing. The other members of the family were awake by this time and the sight in the downstairs bedroom was one that shocked the children to the extreme. Arthur Dorschner called his uncle, Mr. Welch, and soon after the police were notified.

In the fury of the snow storm that swept over the vacant areas of this sparsely settled part of the Sixth ward, police secured the vicinity for the man who had disappeared. The storm left no traces in the snow, and none of the neighbors had seen any one sulking about. The theory was that Dorschner had killed himself in one of the neighboring outbuildings, a theory that police later abandoned for one that he might have drowned himself in the Fox river.

POLICE GET CLEW
Meanwhile a street car accident which happened at Rankin-st and Pacific-st at 4:45 Monday morning produced a valuable clew when it was reported that the injured man first apparently recognized as another Appleton resident proved to be another person, as yet unidentified.

He was in an unconscious state due to the severe injuries to his head. An examination proved the injuries which disfigured the man, he was identified by his son and his brother-in-law as Dorschner.

Dorschner was employed as a laborer by the Rowell Manufacturing company, Hancock and Pacific-sts. But it was beyond this place, namely at Rankin and Pacific-sts where he was struck by the street car. When he left home Monday morning he was dressed in a blue serge suit, a gray soft hat and a green overcoat of about three-quarter length. He has light hair and is of light complexion. In stature he is about 5 feet 10 inches and weighs about 150 pounds.

Mrs. Dorschner, like her husband, was of slender build and of light complexion. She was but a young girl when she was married. They had lived in Appleton all the time of their married life.

CHILDREN ASLEEP
When the children closed in sleep Monday morning they did so for the last time and never to open again. To show that she was entirely ignorant of any approaching calamity, her face was perfectly composed and not in the least distorted. Her head rested on her arm.

By her side slept the two little children all through the night, neither of them disturbed by the gruesome deed committed near their heads.

The mother's throat showed a deep gash and blood covered the bedclothes. It appeared that but one slash was made with the knife and that death came practically instantaneously.

At the inquest at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the city hall the coroner's jury will declare how Mrs. Dorschner met her death. Those on the jury are George Voeg, Theodore Belling, Harry Ames, Joseph Bellin, Oscar Kunitz and C. O. Whipple.

FISHERMAN FOUND DEAD ON LAKE BY HIS COMPANIONS

Bernard R. Dick Of Hilbert, Dies Of Heart Disease, When Left Alone

A fishing trip in which seven Hilbert men took part Sunday came to a tragic ending when one of their number, Bernard R. Dick, was found lying dead on the ice of Lake Winnebago, with his body covered almost completely with drifting snow.

Dick was the owner of a bakery at Hilbert and met death by heart disease, an examination by a physician and the Calumet coroner revealed.

DECLINED TO GO
Others in the party were Niel and Harold Schumacher, William Hillman, Dr. F. A. Holtz, Arthur Brandes and Alfred Koch. They drove from Hilbert to the shore of Lake Winnebago by automobile Sunday morning, stopping about four and a half miles west of Sherwood and near Lake park.

It was the plan of the fishermen to walk out on the ice about four miles. Dick said he felt exhausted and did not wish to make the trip. He said he would wait on shore, and if he felt stronger would come out later. He suffered illness with pneumonia about a year ago and had not been strong since.

DEAD IN SNOWDRIFT
The men left Dick about 9 o'clock in the morning, after assuring themselves that he would be all right until they returned. When the snowstorm came up early in the afternoon they returned to shore. Koch came upon the body of Dick when he perceived the man's two feet protruding from a snowbank. He was lying face downward on the ice near shore with his fishing tackle beside him as though he had started for the lake. Life was extinct.

Funeral services were held at the Lutheran church at Hilbert at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon and the body was conveyed to the former home of the family at Michigan City, Ind., for burial. He had been in business at Hilbert for about three years and is survived by his widow and two daughters, the latter living at Michigan City.

BIRTHS

A son, John Robert, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Long, 574 Walnut-st, last Sunday.

Lawrence Berner and Frank Schnabel of Black Creek are spending a week as guests of William Sorensen, 1029 Drew-st.

WILSON WILL GO TO FINAL REST NEXT WEDNESDAY

Simple Ceremonies Are Planned By Friends And Relatives Of Dead Man

Walls looked down Sunday upon the last scene of a career that had known all the heights and depths of human emotion. In death he appears as if in peaceful slumber; his features serene and composed and his square jaw set with the old determination. But the lines are somewhat deeper and heavier, and the flashing fire of his eye has gone out forever.

Enduring Friends

Washington, D. C.—The one enduring friendship which Mr. Wilson made in the White House was with his personal physician, Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson, who restored him to health when he came into the presidency a sick man; watched over him as he would a new born baby, and finally snatched him from a deathbed at the time of his breakdown and prolonged his life several years after he left the White House.

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more Vitamins than any food you can get.

You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar-coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of real healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong, ask Schlitz Bros., Downer's Drug Store or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist will hand you back the money you paid for them.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 10 pounds in 30 days.

THOUGHT FOR HIMSELF
Woodrow Wilson had a way of thinking things out for himself and making his own decisions. When he was working through a crucial moment, he invariably shut himself up in his study and worked the thing out on his own typewriter. He called for information when he was working toward a decision, but he preferred to have it in written form. He wanted the facts cold, and untinted by the personality of the purveyor. When he got mad—and he did get mad once in a while just as any other man—it was his favorite trick to jam on his hat and walk around the block to "cool off." He did that when he heard the Germans had torpedoed the Lusitania. Then he came back to his study full master of his emotions, and penned the historic note to Germany which forecast war. He read it to the cabinet and the secretary of state after it was well on its way over the cable toward Berlin. It was typical of Wilson's way. Having decided on a course of action he wanted no advice. Cabinet meetings during the Wilson administration were described by those who chafed under the restraints, as a morning in the school room with the schoolmaster at the head of the table.

ARE YOU A MOTHER?

HEALTH IS MOST VITAL TO YOU

Read What This Mother Says

LaCrosse, Wis.—"I have been recommending Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription to young expectant mothers for over 25 years, ever since I found by my own experience what a wonderful tonic and nerve Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is during this trying time. It gives renewed strength and it helps to ameliorate suffering. In all these years I have never known of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription failing to give the utmost satisfaction and comfort to the expectant mother whenever it is taken according to directions."—Mrs. P. Aaberg, 128 Stevens-st.

Go to your neighborhood drug store and get Favorite Prescription in tablets or liquid. Write Dr. Pierce, Pres. Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive good medical advice, free of all expense.
